Chairman Ellyson in a recent letter to Governor A. J. Montague, candidate for United States Senator, an swers questions propounded by the governor and explains the primary election law. The law, as he interprets it, gives each candidate voted for the privilege of having one friend within the room where the election is being conducted, to remain until after the completion of the count of the vote and the certification of the result. This is all right but ought not to be necessary. The officers selected to conduct the election should be so free from bias that a fair count wil be assured, whether favorable to the candidate of their choice or not. The better way, perhaps, in order that they may be above suspicion, is to have each candidate, as far as possible, represented by some one conduct ing the election. Surely all of the officers ought not to be partisans of any candidate.

law in the recent municipal and legislative primary held in the city of Richmond. The charge against the editor is that he paid $25.00 to Mr. Goldstein to use his influence for his friend, Col. George Wayne Anderson. He thoughtlessly, in other words, violated the law in his zeal to help a friend, and if a man of his integrity and ability could be led astray in this way others way, below the same of the country district.

The "Mann Law" is an amendmen to the general revenue law, just seven lines in length, and provides the method of securing a license to sell liquor in the country. It does not apply to cities, towns of over five nundred inhabitants, or to watering nundred managements, places.

About forty thousand voters petitioned the legislature to enact the law. The Methodist, Baptist and Christian Churches by their official State bodies endorsed the law, and all the other churches favor it. It was passed by a Democratic Legislature, and signed by a Democratic Governor, and will be found in the Acts of Assembly 1902-3-4, page 220, lines 13-19. It became effective April 15th, 1903.

The law is not a prohibitive measure. It merely provides that before a license to sell liquor in the country can be jurious to the moral or the material interests of the community.

It does not do away with the local option law, but supplements that law. The social club law is not a part of the "Mann Law," and I am in no way responsible for it.

Along with the "Mann Law," there was an amendment to the revenue law doubling the tax on barrooms.

The following are some of the benefits which have been derived from the law:

Reply To Voter.

Mr. Editor:—In the columns of your valuable paper of last week, the following query was presented: Was the Hon. Joseph E. Willard, one of the candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor opposed to the influence against the passage of the same? Please permit me as one who believes in fair play, to answer the above query propounded by that embriotic politician who signed himself "Voter." To start with, I desire to take "Voter" through the kindergarten course and answer his query by asking him a few questions.

Now with Bill's old proverb always on your tongue, just tell them, when they say that Joe Willard was opposed to the Jim Crow law, or used his influence against it, "it is not true," and the journal of the House of Representatives of Virginia will prove it. Now, my dear "Voter," if you desire to have any further information concerning Joe Willard, just tell them you will see me.

THE BLACKSTONE SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

In 1894, after a careful study of the situation, a Christian Training School for Girls was opened at Blackstone, and about $30,000 has been expended in the purchase of a campus of twenty-five acres and in the erection of a massive brick building equipped with all the modern appliances of Lighting, Heating, Sanitation. The purpose of the founders was declared to be to give

"THOROUGH INSTRUCTION UNDER POSITIVE CHRISTIAN INFLUENCES AT THE LOWEST POSSIBLE COST."

Instruction:-This purpose has been carried out. Thorough instruction has been given, and the Blackstone students, in addition to the regular instruction given in Seminaries, have received Normal training, all applicants for diplomas being required to take both Theoretical and Practical Pedagogy, including actual teaching in the Model School. The Blackstone certificate or diploma is recognized by educators as meaning what it says, and about five hundred teachers have shown the practical value of Character:-But at Blackstone, character is regarded as the student's most preious possession, and boarding school life is known to be a critical time in the formation of character. The greatest aim of the faculty is to direct and stimulate the development of the character of the students committed to their care. Direct contact of the student with the teacher is one of the greatest benefits of the school life, and hence the faculty at Blackstone all live in the building with the girls, and meet them not only in the class-room, but in every relation of the school life. The atmosphere of the school is wholesome, inspiring, and uplifting, and the influences are positively Christian.

Cost:-The cost is less than at any other school in the State of equal grade. One hundred and fifty dollars ($150) per session pays for Board, Laundry, Medical Attention, and Tuition in all departments except Music and Elecution, which subjects are taught at correspondingly low rates. It has been the aim from the beginning to maintain a student body sufficiently large to give to parents the benefit of low rates for first-class instruction, but not too large for the Principal and his helpers to know each student and to give her individual care. This result has been attained. If you want your daughter to have thorough instruction under positive Christian influences at the lowest possible cost, write for catalogue to 13" For the next session, twenty scholarships, worth $75.00 each, will be given to young ladies who are unable to meet the full expenses of the school, but who are sufficiently anxious for an education to be willing to assist the housekeeper in the care of the dining-room.

JAMES CANNON, Jr., A. M., Blackstone, Va.
